Varada Sethu journeys to the stars as the Doctor's fiery new companion Belinda

NEW SCI-FI

Doctor Who

Saturday, 6.50pm, BBC1

A plucky new companion joins the Doctor in the TARDIS as Doctor Who returns for a new series this week – but unlike a lot of her predecessors, she's not there by choice.

Belinda Chandra (Andor and Annika star Varada Sethu) is an overworked nurse who's at home sleeping after a long shift when she's suddenly abducted by robots and taken to outer space – where Belinda meets the Doctor (Ncuti Gatwa) for the first time.

The pair are soon caught up in a fight for their lives as they attempt to discover what the robots are up to – but while the Doctor assumes Belinda will become his new partner in adventures through space and time, she just wants to go home.

Belinda travels through outer space

Here, 32-year-old Sethu tells TV&Satellite Week what it's like being the newest companion…

What can you tell us about Belinda? She's a nurse on modern-day Earth, and I think my favourite thing about her is that she's just so confident in herself; she's very much the main character in her own plot. She's got her own values system, and she isn't afraid to stand up to the Doctor. She's very independent, and super-selfless.

What was it like working with Ncuti Gatwa as the Doctor? I loved it! I had such a great time – he and Millie Gibson [who returns later in the series as companion Ruby Sunday] are both such amazing, talented, beautiful people. Ncuti's got such a vibrant energy that he brings to the Doctor. As an actor, you want to match that, so you level up your own performance. I had the best time.

What was it like when you first stepped on to the TARDIS set? Oh, it was so special – it made my heart skip a beat the first time I stepped inside it. I thought, 'Oh my God, now I'm part of this moment.' And the way the TARDIS set itself is constructed, it really does feel like you're on a spaceship.

SEASON 2: EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW

Doctor Who showrunner Russell T. Davies reveals the secrets of the new series...

● MISSION TO MIAMI

Although Belinda is initially a reluctant traveller, her adventures with the Doctor soon give her a new perspective. 'Within a week, she's having fun on board the TARDIS,' reveals Davies. 'On her first trip, she ends up in Miami in 1952 [right]!'

The Doctor is on a mission to get Belinda back home – but it won't be as easy as they think. 'They end up in the wilds of outer space and discover that the one day they can't get back to is the day Belinda left,' says Davies. 'There's a big reason behind that.'

● RUBY'S RETURN

Millie Gibson (left) will be returning as Ruby Sunday in the fourth episode, Lucky Day, which explores Ruby's life after leaving the Doctor. 'There's going to be a bit of PTSD in there,' hints Davies. 'She's seen death on a ferocious scale and escaped by the skin of her teeth, so going back to a normal life is hard.'

● FLOOD ALERT

Anita Dobson (right) will be reprising her role as the enigmatic Mrs Flood, and we will finally find out who she is. 'She's being more mysterious than ever, and I promise viewers some shocking answers,' says Davies. 'There's a lot of fun to come.'

Belinda (centre) is abducted by robots

● POP STARS

The sixth episode, titled The Interstellar Song Contest, is set to air immediately before Eurovision on 17 May and stars Rylan Clark (left). 'We were saving money like mad throughout to be able to afford Episode 6,' smiles Davies. 'Eurovision is the most spectacular stage show you will ever watch – and we're going to match that.'

● CARTOON CAPERS

As well as Rylan, there's an array of guest stars appearing this season. 'Alan Cumming is the voice of a cartoon that comes to life called Mr Ring-a-Ding [right],' says Davies. 'Jonah Hauer-King is new, too, and Freddie Fox – plus Bonnie Langford's back as Mel, Ruth Madeley as Shirley, and Jemma Redgrave as Kate. Working with Jemma is an absolute joy'

You previously portrayed an entirely different character on the show – Mundy Flynn in the 2024 episode Boom. When did you find out you'd be coming back to play Belinda? When I did Boom, it was a three-week shoot in Cardiff, and I got along so well with the team and I was really sad to leave. Then when I landed back home, I got a call from my agent saying, 'Do you want to possibly go in for a meeting to potentially talk about maybe becoming the new companion?'

It was so vaguely worded! I went in expecting it to be like an audition, ready to pitch myself, and I realised 10 minutes in that it was actually a pitch to me!

Did any actors who have previously played companions offer you advice? Mandip Gill [who played Yasmin Khan, companion to Jodie Whittaker's Thirteenth Doctor] reached out, and I feel like both Millie and Mandip gave me the same advice, which is that it's super-intense and absolutely mad, but to lean in and have as much fun as possible.

Brave new world

The post-apocalyptic thriller returns with a five-year time jump

NEW SCI-FI

The Last of Us

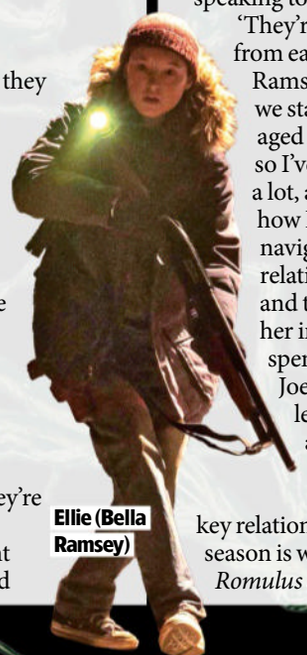
Monday, 9pm, Sky Atlantic

When post-apocalyptic drama The Last of Us hit our screens in 2023, it proved beyond doubt that video games could be adapted brilliantly for TV, with viewers and critics alike applauding its engrossing world-building and well-rounded characters.

As the hotly anticipated second season arrives this week, the action picks up five years on from the Season 1 finale. Survivors Ellie (Bella Ramsey) and Joel (Pedro Pascal) are now living in the community of Jackson, Wyoming, where those who have managed to avoid the parasitic cordyceps infection – which turns humans into violent mutants – are sheltering together.

UNDER STRAIN

'You get the sense that they all feel like they've maybe solved the problem,' series co-creator and showrunner Craig Mazin tells TV&Satellite Week. 'They have quite a nice place to live, it seems very safe – they even have a New Year's Eve party. And they have almost begun to see the Infected as a very manageable threat; they're getting good at killing them, almost to a point where it's too easy. And that, of course, is hubris.'



Ellie (Bella Ramsey)

The first season saw Joel tasked with transporting 14-year-old Ellie – who is immune to the infection – across the United States to a location where members of a resistance group called the Fireflies could use her to research a cure. However, Joel developed an almost parental attachment to Ellie, and when he realised that she wouldn't survive their experiments, he broke her out, killing several Fireflies in the process – then lied to Ellie about what he'd done.

It's clear as the second season begins that Ellie and Joel's relationship has shifted significantly in the past five years, and we learn that Ellie is now barely speaking to him.

'They're a little bit estranged from each other,' confirms Ramsey. 'I was 17 when we started Season 1, and aged 20 filming Season 2, so I've also grown up a lot, and that informed how I played Ellie. She's navigating this shifting relationship with Joel, and trying to fight for her independence. Ellie spent all of her time with Joel, and now she's learning how to be around people her own age again.'

One of Ellie's key relationships in the new season is with Dina (Alien: Romulus star Isabela Merced), who shares Ellie's rebellious streak and desire to be more actively involved in Jackson's defence patrols, with their blossoming friendship set to evolve into a romance.

Pedro Pascal as Joel

Ellie and Dina (Isabela Merced) become close

'It's a queer storyline in a post-apocalyptic world that's very much woven into the fabric of it,' says Ramsey. 'It's two people in love, and they both happen to be women. That's what's so great about this show – it really normalises relationships like this. Hopefully people can watch the show and see themselves represented in a way that feels authentic and genuine.'

SPINNING A TALE

While the second season draws its inspiration from the game The Last of Us Part II, co-creator and showrunner Neil Druckmann – who is also the co-creator of the game – says that we can expect the TV series to continue to flesh the world out beyond the parameters of its source material.

'There are things that work in the video game but wouldn't work as well if we were to translate them one-to-one for a TV show – they might be boring, or overly bloated as an action sequence,' says Druckmann. 'So there are certain things we have changed because of that – for example, Eugene [played by The Sopranos' Joe Pantoliano] takes on a much bigger role in the show than he did in the game.'

The survivors' attempt to rebuild society within Jackson allows the drama to ask some difficult questions about human nature, and Mazin says viewers can expect to have their own values challenged along the way.

'The series is asking viewers to feel a connection to everyone, even when many of these characters are on completely opposite paths and want to destroy each other,' he says. 'It about how we can manage to express love for the people we care about the most, but not to the exclusion of everyone else.'

WHO'S NEW IN SEASON 2

Abby
Kaitlyn Dever

Fuelled by a desire for vengeance, the soldier is determined to find and kill Joel in response to his actions at the end of Season 1.

Dina
Isabela Merced

A young survivor in Jackson who is outgoing and popular and doesn't like to play by the rules, she is fiercely loyal to Ellie.

Jesse
Young Mazino

Dina's on-off boyfriend is one of the more trusted younger citizens of Jackson who takes his duties very seriously.

Gail
Catherine O'Hara

Joel's therapist in Jackson is hardened and cynical, and challenges him to confront the lies he's been telling himself.

Pauline Black: A 2-Tone Story

Wednesday, 9pm, Sky Arts

This year marks the 45th anniversary of the release of debut album Too Much Pressure by Coventry ska band The Selecter, who toured with The Specials and Madness in 1979 as 2-Tone swept the nation.

Still recording and touring, and with a slot at this year's Glastonbury, 71-year-old lead singer Pauline Black looks back on her remarkable life in Sky Arts' feature-length rockumentary Pauline Black: A 2-Tone Story.

Born Belinda Magnus, Black was brought up by middle-aged white adoptive parents, and recalls feeling like an outsider during her Essex childhood.

'The environment was a little alienating, from the point of view of a little brown girl,' she tells TV&Satellite Week. 'Most people had hardly ever seen or spoken to a Black person.'

Moving to Coventry to study science, she was recruited as the lead singer of ska band The Selecter, newly

Keba and (below) Precious

There's more tinkling of the ivories when Claudia Winkleman returns for a third series of The Piano with another crop of amateur pianists showcasing their talents at major train stations around the UK.

This time, however, there are a few changes. As well as stopping off at various railway terminals, the show will also be calling at Britain's busiest airport, Heathrow.

Also, pop superstar Mika has a new fellow mentor in the form of Jon Batiste. The American award-winning singer-songwriter takes over the role filled by classical pianist Lang Lang in the previous series.

At each port of call, the pair watch the performances from behind the scenes and choose pianists to perform in a special concert at The Glasshouse International Centre for Music in Gateshead, which will round off this seven-part series.

TV&Satellite Week caught up with Mika, 41, and Batiste, 38, to find out more…

How have you found being a mentor on The Piano, Jon?

Batiste To see all these people step up to the piano and tell their story, and then have to curate a concert, is overwhelming. There's a lot to process when you think about how it's going to change so many people's lives.

Do you think the show has a different feel now?

Mika It's evolved. It has a different energy this year, which is now obviously because Jon is around. Also, because it's the third series, people know what it's about now and I've seen a shift in the types of pianists that are coming and a diverse range of musical styles, backgrounds, ages and reasons why they're playing.

How is performing in a public space like a train station different to a more formal setting like a concert hall?

Mika It's nerve-racking. Everyone's in transit, everyone's moving around. They're not there to see you. Someone playing music in a public space while you're waiting for a train is a disturbance. It's not an easy environment to play in.

Black on stage

formed by guitarist Neol Davies, and took the stage name Pauline Black.

'My family still called everyone who was a different colour "coloured"', she recalls. 'So I thought: "I will change my name to Black by deed poll!"'

The Selecter notched up a string of hits including Three Minute Hero, On My Radio and Missing Words, but the original line-up, noted for their thrilling live shows, soon parted ways.

'There's an old Jamaican expression: "Two bulls can't rule in one pen., and we had two bulls!' says Black. 'There were different ideas about what direction the band should go in.'

The film also reflects the turbulent times during which the 2-Tone movement was formed, as well as the racism and sexism Black has faced as a lead singer and subsequently as a broadcaster and actor.

While progress has been made, 45 years on, there's more to do, she reveals...

'The conversation's started,' she says. 'But it's not the end of the journey.'

Wicked plans

Stars Ray Fearon, Amy Nuttall, Rupert Penry-Jones, Jill Halfpenny, James Fleet and Tessa Peake-Jones

A building project turns deadly for Rupert Penry-Jones and Jill Halfpenny

NEW DRAMA

The Feud

Monday-Wednesday, 9pm, 5

In the opening scenes of 5's The Feud, three houses side by side on a quiet suburban road are up for sale, while rumours of murder circulate about the previous owners. The six-part thriller then jumps back one month to reveal the seemingly ordinary catalyst that sparked bad blood between the neighbours…

On the surface, single-minded criminal-defence solicitor Emma Barnett (Jill Halfpenny) and her unemployed husband John (Rupert Penry-Jones) live a laid-back life in Shelbury Drive with their daughter Beth. Yet behind closed doors, tension simmers on the cul-de-sac.

'From the beginning, you see that Emma is trying to rectify something in her marriage, but instead of opting for couples therapy, she suggests a new kitchen extension!' says Halfpenny. 'She has a vision for her home and ignores all the red flags that pop up with her neighbours.'

TENSION MOUNTS

Living on either side of the Barnetts are neighbours Sonia and Alan Spence (Amy Nuttall and Ray Fearon) and Derek and Barbara Abshire (James Fleet and Tessa Peake-Jones). Initially, the Spences are accommodating about the building work, but the Abshires are furious from the get-go and spearhead a bitter campaign to stop the project and protect a tree in their back garden that's mysteriously connected to their missing son Marcus.

'It doesn't take long for passive aggression to become out-and-out aggression,' reveals Halfpenny, 49. 'The gloves come off.'

'They're all supposedly friends, but there's a lot of fake camaraderie,' adds Penry-Jones, 54. 'There's an added pressure, too, because they're all being watched by Nick [Alex Macqueen], who lives across the street and has CCTV pointed at their houses. As everything gets worse and worse, nasty things happen.'

Filmed in Newcastle and written by Aschlin Ditta (The Inheritance), the miniseries unfolds over three nights this week and next, as relationships break down and sinister secrets are revealed. Adding to the intrigue are Chris Gascoyne as money-hungry builder Lee, Larry Lamb as Emma's dodgy wheeler-dealer father Terry, and Jamie-Lee O'Donnell as a police officer with a hidden agenda.

'I love playing people who invite chaos into their lives'
JILL HALFPENNY

'Rupert and I enjoy playing characters under tension, and I love playing people who invite chaos into their lives,' says Halfpenny, who co-starred with Penry-Jones in 5's 2021 ratings success The Drowning.

'Yes, Jill and I are good at portraying people who don't like each other,' grins Penry-Jones. 'I'm not allowed to reveal too much, but nothing is as it seems and I'm pretty sure there won't be a second season… You'll realise why when you get to the end!'

Problem child?

Ellen Pompeo stars in a real-life adoption scandal that tore a family apart

NEW DRAMA

Good American Family

Available from Wednesday 9 April, Disney+ (first five eps from Wed 9 April, then weekly)

It's the US adoption saga that shocked the world. In 2010, Indiana couple Kristine and Michael Barnett adopted Natalia Grace, a seven-year-old Ukrainian orphan with a rare form of dwarfism. But as the Barnetts began to raise the little girl alongside their three biological sons, they started to suspect Natalia was actually an adult pretending to be a child…

This remarkable true story has now been turned into a compelling Disney+ drama, Good American Family. Starring Grey's Anatomy's Ellen Pompeo as Kristine, the eight-parter sheds light on events from the different perspectives of those involved.

Ellen Pompeo and Mark Duplass as Kristine and Michael

CONCERNS

As the series begins, Kristine and Michael (Mark Duplass) are delighted to welcome Natalia into the home they share with their three sons, Wesley, Ethan and Jacob, who has autism. But as Natalia starts to display some unusual and threatening behaviour, Kristine grows convinced the 'child' is in fact an adult out to terrorise their family…

'Kristine's behaviour is coloured by her having a neurodivergent son,' says Pompeo, 55. 'Kristine believes she's an expert, who knows more than the doctors – so when things go wrong, she knows she's got to find a way out.'

Worried for their safety, the Barnetts take drastic action – legally changing Natalia's age to 22, moving her into her own apartment and relocating to Canada with the boys. Natalia, meanwhile, maintains she's just a little girl being abused by the 'good American family' that adopted her. Is Natalia a victim or villain?

DIFFERENT PERSPECTIVE

'We want audiences to consider how we judge those who are different or who look different to us,' says Pompeo, who credits 27-year-old British newcomer Imogen Faith Reid with bringing the character of Natalia to life.

'This is Imogen's first speaking role and it's challenging material but I couldn't be more impressed with her. We are giving Natalia a voice, showing maybe what she was going through from her perspective. Without Imogen nailing the character of Natalia the way she did, we couldn't tell the story we needed to tell.'

Growing pains

Three young siblings are left to fend for themselves

NEW COMEDY DRAMA

Just Act Normal

Wednesday, 9pm & 9.35pm, BBC3 (box set, BBC iPlayer)

When tragedy strikes mum-of-three Jackie in BBC3's new comedy drama Just Act Normal, her teenage children Tiana and Tionne and their nine-year-old sister Tanika are determined to keep the truth from the authorities so they can stay together as a family.

But as the story unfolds, will the siblings be able to hide a dark and terrible secret...

'I wanted to explore how kids would live without a parental figure at home, and how they would survive,' says writer Janice Okoh who based the six-parter on her award-winning play Three Birds. 'Just Act Normal is dark but madcap-funny and uplifting.'

Imogen Faith Reid stars as Natalia

With Jackie seemingly AWOL, her absence soon causes all sorts of problems. The kids' estranged dad Leo (Ivanno Jeremiah) is keen for Jackie to sign their divorce papers, while Tanika's concerned teacher Ms Jenkins (Romola Garai) is also eager to speak to her.

DARK SECRETS

As the siblings try to stop the truth from coming out, they enlist the services of 'Fake Jackie' (played by singer Jamelia), who poses as the kids' mum to appease the concerns of Ms Jenkins. Meanwhile, Sam Buchanan plays Jackie's drug dealer Dr Feelgood, and Hollyoaks' Jennifer Metcalfe is their dad's less-than-sympathetic fiancée Candy.

'Candy is cold, hard-faced and a little bit of a witch,' says Metcalfe. 'The kids hate her, so she's the wicked stepmother. They are just an inconvenience to her and she finds them annoying. She'd really rather not have them around because she wants Leo to herself.'

Off-screen, however, Metcalfe was on much better terms with her young co-stars Chenée Taylor, Akins Subair and Kaydrah Walker-Wilkie, who play siblings Tiana, Tionne and Tanika. 'For some of them, it's been their first big acting job,' says Metcalfe. 'Their acting is on a different level. They were amazing and it was an honour to work alongside them.'

Holliday Grainger, Denise Gough and Ambika Mod star in a kidnap thriller full of twists and secrets

Disney+ The Stolen Girl

NEW Available: Wednesday 16 April
Genre: Thriller Season: 1 Episodes: 5

An innocent play date turns into every parent's worst nightmare in gripping psychological thriller The Stolen Girl, which explores the terrifying abduction of a nine-year-old.

Adapted from Alex Dahl's novel Playdate, the five-part drama follows private-jet cabin manager and mother of two Elisa Blix (Denise Gough), whose high-flying life comes crashing down when her daughter, Lucia, begs for a sleepover at her new best friend Josie's house.

Josie's charming mum, Rebecca Walsh (Holliday Grainger), appears trustworthy and reassuring when Elisa drops off Lucia's overnight bag at her stunning home in the Cheshire suburbs. But the next day, Elisa can't get through to Rebecca's phone, and when she races to the house, she discovers it's a rental property and there's no trace of Rebecca, Josie and Lucia.

As a frantic Europe-wide search ensues, Elisa and her criminal-lawyer husband, Fred (Jim Sturgess), find themselves under intense police and media scrutiny, especially when relentless investigative journalist Selma Desai (Ambika Mod) begins to dig into their lives. Is the Blix family being completely transparent?

'Elisa thinks Rebecca is harmless and nice, which is why she feels able to leave Lucia with her,' says Gough, 45, who appears in Star Wars spin-off Andor. 'But when Elisa discovers Lucia is missing, she's devastated and feels unbearably guilty. As the life she created starts to unravel, she feels totally out of her depth.

'Elisa is very put together from the outside, but she has a past that she hasn't really dealt with. She gets single-focused about getting her daughter back. It's animalistic. I hope it's a gripping ride for viewers. You won't know whose side to be on at any stage.'

TRUE MOTIVES

From the producer of Happy Valley, the drama also follows lead investigator DI Shona Sinclair (Bronagh Waugh) and Selma's editor, Kaleb Negasi (Michael Workéyè), who both grow frustrated by Selma's interference. But as Rebecca's motives come to light, viewers may wonder if Lucia should remain hidden.

'Rebecca's actions are huge, outlandish and life-altering, but when you discover the extent of her damage and pain, you can understand them,' says Grainger, 37, who's starred in BBC1 dramas Strike and The Capture. 'She's not out for revenge: she's out for her own survival, and she has to create this construct of her own reality; otherwise, the truth is too difficult to cope with.

'The story is about the strength and passion of motherhood, protecting your own, and the emotional fallout when you're unable to do that.

'It's a whodunnit, howdunnit and whydunnit thriller, and rehearsing for some of the big emotional scenes sometimes felt like prepping for a fight. But there's so much trauma on all levels that no one really wins.'

Daydream believer

David Oyelowo plays an amateur inventor in 1960s America

tv+ Government Cheese

NEW Available: Wednesday 16 April Genre: Comedy Season: 1 Episodes 10 (first four episodes from 6 April, then weekly)

A former jailbird faces setbacks as he tries to turn around his family's fortunes in Apple TV+'s offbeat comedy Government Cheese.

The 10-part series is set in California's San Fernando Valley in 1969 and begins as resourceful Hampton Chambers, played by Lawmen: Bass Reeves' David Oyelowo, is in prison for theft.

After he gets out, having found religion, Hampton is eager to reunite with frustrated wife Astoria (Simone Missick) and their sons – laid-back brainbox Einstein (Evan Ellison) and rebellious Harrison (Jahi Di'Allo Winston) – but they have a mixed reaction to his return.

Meanwhile, he also discovers that he has inadvertently landed himself in debt to gangsters during his time in jail.

Hampton then tries to raise funds and achieve his dream of becoming a millionaire with an invention he has been working on in prison for a self-sharpening drill.

David Oyelowo as Hampton Chambers

But his business plans go awry, along with his attempts to stay on the straight and narrow.

For Oyelowo, who was nominated for a Golden Globe after playing Martin Luther King Jr. in Selma, showcasing a different side to Black life in 1960s America has been a joy.

'It's almost always seen through the lens of the historical context. But none of that is applicable in Government Cheese,' says Oyelowo, 49.

'This is about a Black family in 1969, but it doesn't have an active connection to the racial politics of the day. It's just a family going through typical obstacles – some of them fantastical but still relatable.'

The series is named after the cheese that the US government provided to those on welfare benefits, and with which Hampton's mum created great sandwiches, showing how the aspirational, inventive Chambers clan have always made something out of nothing. And co-creator Paul Hunter partly based their adventures on his own family.

'I want to show Black characters in an interesting way,' he shares. 'I grew up in the San Fernando Valley and want to represent how it was growing up. My dad had ideas for different businesses but struggled to turn them into something tangible, but he was a true inspiration.'

Yvonne Strahovski and Caleb Dolden as Maggie and Arlo

Domestic TERROR

A rural family is threatened by an evil force...

Paramount+ Teacup

NEW Available: Good Friday Genre: Horror Season: 1 Episodes: 8 (first four episodes from Good Friday, then weekly)

Yvonne Strahovski returns to our screens next month as on-the-run mother Serena in the final season of The Handmaid's Tale – but before then, she faces another high-stakes situation in the horror series Teacup.

Set in the Deep South, the eight-parter follows Maggie (Strahovski), her cheating husband James (Grey's Anatomy's Scott Speedman), and their two children, Meryl (Emilie Bierre) and Arlo (Caleb Dolden), as they battle a terrifying entity that threatens their ranching community.

'Things are not great when we meet Maggie and James – their marriage is on the rocks,' explains Strahovski. 'It already feels very tense and dangerous, and that really adds to all the chaos as it builds.'

The first signs that things are amiss are when the local animals get spooked, phone reception fails and car batteries die. Is someone, or something, deliberately cutting the ranchers off from the outside world? And what does a mysterious man in a gas mask, McNab (Stranger Things' Rob Morgan), have to do with the menacing events?

'Maggie goes from being a regular mother to turning into this Terminator kind of a woman. She is challenged in the most unimaginable ways,' says Strahovski, who admits she was shocked by one of the series' goriest scenes.

'I've seen a lot of prosthetics, and I've seen a lot of gore on the set, and this was another level,' she reveals. 'I genuinely had a sick feeling reaction.'

Lone star lovers

Can a heartbroken rancher find romance in a glossy new Western?

Ransom Canyon

NEW

Available: Thursday 17 April
Genre: Drama Season: 1 Episodes: 10

If you're a Yellowstone or Virgin River fan, you won't want to miss this romance-filled Netflix drama set in Texas' rugged cowboy country.

Created by April Blair, the 10-part tale follows the lives of three ranching families as they deal with love and loss in the Lone Star State.

'Ransom Canyon isn't just a town; it's an idea,' says Blair, who adapted the show from a series of novels by Jodi Thomas. 'It's the painful longing for your first love. It's the burning desire to protect your family. It's cowboys and lovers, grifters and thieves. Lust, deceit, heartache, home – Ransom Canyon has it all.'

The series stars Josh Duhamel as Staten Kirkland, the owner of the sprawling Double K Ranch, who's still reeling from the death of his wife, only for tragedy to strike again when his son is killed in a car crash.

CLASHES AWAIT

Fortunately, he can count on the support of Quinn O'Grady (Minka Kelly), who's returned to Texas after chasing a career as a concert pianist in New York, to run a local dance hall.

'Staten's dealt with a lot of grief – though I'm not sure he really dealt with the grief very well,' says Duhamel. 'When he comes back to the world of the living, he realises that there are a lot of unexplored opportunities and relationships that he probably never even saw before the loss happened.'

But Staten isn't Quinn's only suitor. Davis Collins (Eoin Macken), the owner of Bar W Ranch, is also making a play for her heart.

As the two biggest landowners in Ransom, the Kirkland and Collins families have quarrelled for generations, and that feud is set to continue, with Staten and Davis having very different ideas about the invaluable water source running below their ranches.

The show also stars James Brolin as Cap, a brash ex-Army captain and bullheaded owner of Fuller Ranch, Jack Schumacher as enigmatic drifter Yancy, and Marianly Tejada as Quinn's tough and whip-smart pal, Ellie.

'I wanted to do something that felt big and escapist and had the romance, but also had the drama and the mystery wrapped up in one package,' explains Blair. 'It leans into a more bygone-era Western.'

Hallelujah heroes

Can Gareth Malone's novice singers raise the roof with Handel's Messiah?

NEW FACTUAL

Gareth Malone's Messiah

Good Friday, 10.45am, BBC1 (box set, BBC iPlayer)

Gareth Malone is embarking on one of the biggest musical challenges of his career this Easter – coaching untrained singers to perform George Frideric Handel's Messiah alongside a world-class orchestra and chorus.

In Gareth Malone's Messiah, a two-part BBC1 documentary showing on Good Friday and Easter Sunday, the popular choirmaster selects eight people who have never sung in a classical choir and begins the arduous task of teaching them to sing the nation's favourite choral work.

'Messiah is one of the greatest pieces of music in our culture. It's beautiful, challenging, and it can be life-affirming to perform a piece like this, so I wanted newbie singers to experience that,' says Malone, whose plan involves preparing the novices to sing alongside the BBC National Orchestra and Chorus of Wales at Llandaff Cathedral, Cardiff, in a concert set to air on BBC2 on Easter Sunday (and available on BBC iPlayer from Good Friday).

'It will also be my first time conducting a piece this size. There are nerves all round!'

As if that doesn't sound tricky enough, Malone and his recruits have only seven weeks to tackle Handel's choral masterpiece, which was first put on as a fundraiser at London's Foundling Hospital in 1750.

'Timings are tight,' says Malone, who undertook a similar challenge last year, leading untrained singers in a concert of Johann Sebastian Bach's St John Passion. 'Both pieces were hard to teach, but Messiah is more challenging. The sheer volume of music the singers must learn is a worry.'

As viewers will see, nerves soon appear among the chosen eight as they grapple with the gruelling rehearsal schedule and their own personal challenges.

Titanic: The Digital Resurrection

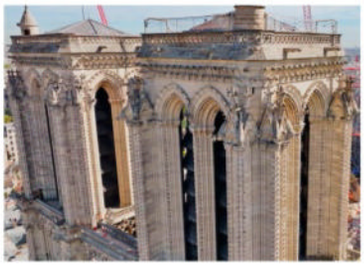
It reveals more about the ship's final moments and the truth about how the 'unsinkable' vessel sank after striking an iceberg.



Rebuilding Notre Dame: The Final Chapter

Five years after the devastating fire that destroyed the spire and roof and damaged much of the interior, Paris cathedral Notre Dame was reopened to the public. This film follows the restoration teams as they race against the clock to be ready for the momentous event.

Rehearsal time with the orchestra

'There's Naomi, who's undergoing chemotherapy for breast cancer and struggles with tiredness – but goodness, that woman has got a will,' says Malone, 49. 'As does another singer, Richard, who's lost his wife. Both have a strong desire to enjoy their lives and found singing a great way to do that. You'll certainly see tears and doubts, though.'

But when it came to the big performance, Malone says the concert hit all the right notes.

'I've loved Handel's Messiah since my parents took me to see it as a child, and to walk out in front of a professional orchestra and hear my guys sing the Hallelujah chorus was incredible,' he smiles. 'The singers were so empowered by the experience. It was just fantastic.'

A look at the career of funnyman Benny Hill (above). Once one of TV's biggest stars, with his cheeky humour making him a favourite in the US, his reputation nosedived in the 1980s when his comedy faced criticism for being racist and sexist, with ITV finally pulling the plug on The Benny Hill Show in 1989.

Barrister Leon-Nathan Lynch

Law & order

With criminal-defence advocate Kate Riekstina

A new series explores the secret working lives of criminal-defence barristers

NEW FACTUAL

Barristers: Fighting for Justice

Tue, 10pm, C4 (box set, Channel 4)

Enter the intense world of defence lawyers in new C4 series Barristers: Fighting for Justice, which was filmed over four years with rare access to the inner workings of a busy chambers in London's famous Temple district.

The series follows the legal eagles as they represent clients who have been charged with violent offences, from carjacking to murder, while also busting some myths about the role of defence barristers.

Lynch specialises in serious crime cases

'Sometimes people think that we defend guilty people,' says Leon-Nathan Lynch, who features in the series. 'But in reality, our job is to ensure that every person gets a fair trial. We uphold the fundamental principle that everyone is innocent until proven guilty, and I take that seriously.

'But it's not a nine-to-five job. It follows you home, and deep into your sleep. I hope this series shows people that defence barristers are passionate individuals and that if the law comes calling, they're committed to representing you in the best possible way.'

In this week's first episode, Lynch faces a tough case, representing a young man charged with stealing a car at knifepoint. Later in the series, he must also advocate for a man awaiting sentencing for perverting the course of justice after he gave a lift to two men wanted for murder. But not all verdicts go Lynch's way.

'That's the part of the job I hate. It's heartbreaking, and you never get used to it,' says Lynch. 'But ultimately, the verdict is in the hands of the jury, and whether or not I agree, I respect the process.'

However, Lynch admits the UK justice system is at breaking point.

'We have chronic underfunding that has led to huge backlogs in the courts, with some trials being delayed for years,' he says. 'That's unacceptable. It denies both victims and defendants timely justice.

'Legal-aid cuts also mean that many vulnerable people struggle to get proper representation, and barristers are leaving the profession. Right now, too many people are being failed by the system.'

MOVIE OF THE WEEK

ACTION ADVENTURE

Friday, 11.50am & 8pm, Sky Premiere ★★★★

Daisy Edgar-Jones leads a daring group of storm-chasers in this thrilling sequel

Only Independence Day took more at the box office than the original Twister in 1996, and yet it's taken 28 years to work up a second wind. Thankfully, it was worth the wait, its swirl of large-scale spectacle, likeable characters and heartfelt sentiment excusing a plot that's really just a washing line on which to peg set-pieces.

It opens with a terrific suspense sequence in which a group of Oklahoma storm-chasers – led by the intuitive Kate (Daisy Edgar-Jones) – lose their tornado and catastrophe ensues... Cut to five years later and Kate is now tracking weather patterns from behind a desk. Then Javi (Anthony Ramos), from her old crew, re-enters her life, pleading that she join his new team to face the once-in-a-generation cluster of twisters set to raze Oklahoma.

More reboot than sequel, this nonetheless whips up plenty of callbacks as Kate and Javi race other chasers. Their chief rival is 'tornado wrangler' Tyler Owens (Glen Powell), who's cocky and charismatic, rocking a cowboy-hat-and-wet-T-shirt look.

Like the storm-chasers themselves, the film has new tech to play with, and Twisters outstrips Jan de Bont's original blustery blockbuster for scale, while keeping things shudderingly immersive. You'll emerge bruised and buffeted, and hoping it's not another 28 years until we twist again. 2024, 12, 122MIN

MYSTERY THRILLER

Holland

Available now, Prime Video ★★★

Nicole Kidman's Nancy is a worried small-town teacher and mother who wonders what her seemingly dull and dependable optometrist husband (Matthew Macfadyen) is getting up to on his suspiciously frequent work trips. Convinced he's having an affair, she ropes fellow teacher Dave (Gael García Bernal) into doing some snooping. Set in a picture-perfect town that is quaint to the point of surreal, this very offbeat mystery thriller doesn't entirely pull together all its disparate elements and leaves a couple of plot threads disappointingly dangling, but director Mimi Cave (maker of the comic horror Fresh) puts us off-kilter with tilted camera angles and creates a couple of good sequences of suspense, while her stars (particularly Kidman) are terrific. 2025, 15, 108MIN

Captain America: Brave New World

From Tuesday, available to buy or rent from digital stores, including Prime Video and Sky Store ★★★

Moving out from under Chris Evan's shadow as the next iteration of Captain America was always going to be an uphill struggle, but actor Anthony Mackie and his character Sam Wilson do a more than reasonable job of addressing that here. His Cap becomes entangled in a conspiracy when new US president Thaddeus Ross (Harrison Ford) narrowly escapes an assassination attempt. Although it does nothing new, it's a solid, entertaining flick culminating in a head-to-head with Ross as the Red Hulk, which also acts as a bridge for some of Marvel's loose story threads from other movies. And Joaquin Torres as Wilson's new wingman, Danny Ramirez, is a charismatic scene-stealer. 2025, 12, 118MIN

COMEDY THRILLER

Greedy People

Saturday, 12.15 & 8pm, Sky Premiere ★★★★

Two cops (Joseph Gordon-Levitt and Himesh Patel) stumble on the set-up for a spousal hit in this consistently agreeable Coen Brothers-lite comedy thriller from director Potsy Ponciroli. The duo make off with a stash of cash that becomes the driving factor in a story where the bodies – and laughs – soon start piling up. Standouts among the fine support are Lily James as Patel's pregnant wife and Coen regular Tim Blake Nelson, ace as the shrimp magnate whose plan to bump off this wife (Traci Lords) sets in motion the bloody chain of events. Good, grimy fun. 2023, 15,

Silent Roar

Available now, BFI Player ★★★★

It's been a year since his father went missing at sea, but teenage surfer Louis McCartney is struggling to come to terms with the loss – in fact, he's convinced he's still out there. Will faith come to his aid? The local preacher (Mark Lockyer) certainly hopes so and attempts to lure him into the church. But McCartney's cynical bestie, Ella Lily Hyland, is not so convinced. Set around the Isle of Skye in the Outer Hebrides, writer-director Johnny Barrington's film mixes magical realism with a simple coming-of-age story to wonderful effect, helped by two terrific leads and magnificent land (and sea) scapes. 2023, 15, 90MIN

HORROR

Tuesday, 9pm, Sky Premiere, also streaming on Paramount+ ★★★★

Although starting with an opening that connects to the original film, writer-director Parker Finn takes a sharp turn for his sequel, making it a standalone movie in its own right, as it follows a pop superstar, played by Naomi Scott, who encounters a demonic entity.

After a car crash that has left her deeply scarred – physically and mentally, she is about to embark on a massive comeback tour, aided by her pushy mum/manager (Rosemarie DeWitt). But after witnessing a horrific suicide, Scott starts hallucinating that unnerving smile on people, followed by all manner of messed-up carnage. Something has latched onto her...

Although this has similar beats to the first film, setting this within the confines of celebrity is inspired, allowing Finn to stage impressive musical numbers alongside (in one instance, literally) jaw-dropping set-pieces, as well as poke fun at the hollowness and superficiality of showbiz in general. Most of all, though, his incredibly grisly, deeply creepy movie works because of Scott. She's in pretty much every scene and is superb, giving a pitch-perfect performance of a lonely, traumatised woman facing something intangible, relentless and terrifying. 2024, 18, 127MIN

FANTASY ROMANCE

All of Us Strangers

Disney+ ★★★★★

Part romance, part fantasy, part thriller, and more besides, this film is a testament to the power of love. It follows Andrew Scott in his London high-rise where a relationship with mysterious Paul Mescal slowly takes shape, and back in his childhood home with his parents (Claire Foy and Jamie Bell) who died when he was a child. Both strands are equally compelling and the restrained Scott and the magnetic Mescal do this haunting movie full justice. 2023, 15, 106MIN

Set after an apocalypse that's turned Earth's cold-blooded creatures into giant mutants, it centres on Josh, who, tired of life in a bunker, treks 85 miles to a reunion with the girlfriend he last saw seven years ago. On the way he learns the rules of survival and gets his hero on. Dylan O'Brien's nebbish protagonist is endearingly sweet, the creature designs impress and this slice of found-family feel-good may just put a lump in your throat. 2020, 12, 109MIN

Director Paul King's light touch ensures this is a vibrant, playful delight and Chalamet charmingly makes his gentle character his own (though some will complain he's too benign), bonding generously with the winning Lane. Laurence Olivier's classic 1944 version of the Shakespeare play presented an uplifting pageant of patriotic ideals. By contrast, writer-director-star Kenneth Branagh's film offers a kind of trench warfare view of the drama. Here, the battle of Agincourt is a sordid expanse of mud, blood and slow-motion violence and, though Branagh's King Harry is still a hugely charismatic figure, he's also a man adrift in circumstances beyond his control. As French princess Katherine, Emma Thompson offers light relief as Branagh's romantic interest. 1989, PG, 137MIN

The songs mostly play second fiddle to the movie's affection for its characters, but Topol gives a rousing, inspired performance with a brilliant rendition of the big hit number, If I Were a Rich Man, while Oswald Morris' eye-catching photography won him an Oscar. 1971, U, 180MIN

This smartly paced animation looks to inject some family-friendly hilarity into heist movies. LIVE ROWING

Sunday, 12.20pm, BBC1

This year marks the 170th edition of the men's Boat Race, as crews from Oxford and Cambridge universities take to the River Thames to battle it out along the gruelling 4.25-mile course from Putney to Mortlake.

BBC1 will have live coverage as the women's event begins at 1.21pm, followed by the men's showdown at 2.21pm, with Clare Balding presenting and Andrew Cotter commentating.

All the crews feature rowers with Olympic experience, including Heidi Long, who won bronze with Team GB in the women's eight in Paris last year, and Tom Mackintosh of New Zealand who won gold in the men's eight in Tokyo, both rowing for Oxford.

Following Cambridge's double victory in 2024, the men's Light Blues now lead Oxford 87-81 in total wins, while Cambridge women will be out to extend their 48-30 lead over the Dark Blues.

We asked Team GB world champion David Ambler, who won the 2022 Boat Race with Oxford, for his take on rowing's ultimate test…

THE PREPARATION

Most rowers prepare for the big day with months of high-calorie diets, punishing rowing machine sessions, plus water training and aerobic and core-strength workouts. On race day itself, Ambler says rowers should aim to have a good breakfast and stick to their routine.

'You'll have been doing the same kind of routine for months in preparation so you're not going into no man's land,' he says. 'You just need to put into practice the skills you've already learnt. Do the basics right and don't worry about the details. It's really important to have a cohesive, close-knit team environment. You are only as strong as your team atmosphere so you have got to have that first.'

Cambridge's Sebastian Benzecry and Jenna Armstrong celebrate in 2024

THE RACE

The first few minutes are crucial, and are often the most painful physically, while Ambler stresses the importance of the cox to guide the crew along the course. 'You can't always hear the cox over the crowds watching along the river and that can be difficult,' he says. 'It's important to totally focus on your own boat and not worry about what the opposition is doing. You can't control how fast they are, but you can control how fast you are. As a team you need to be unflappable because anything can happen during those 20 minutes.'

When Ambler won in 2022, success was even sweeter as the victory ended a long losing streak for Oxford. 'Everybody was celebrating with teammates, family and partners,' he says. 'Some might go for a meal, and some might decide to celebrate with a few drinks!'

The Masters

Sat & Sun, Sky Sports Golf & Sky Sports Main Event

Only three players – Jack Nicklaus, Sir Nick Faldo and Tiger Woods – have won back-to-back Masters, and 2024 champion Scottie Scheffler will be aiming to join that exclusive club if he makes the tournament cut for the final two rounds at Augusta National. Last year, the 28-year-old from New Jersey finished four strokes ahead of Sweden's Ludvig Åberg to win his second green jacket, walking away with a first prize of $3.6million. Meanwhile, England's Aaron Rai will be targeting the weekend as he makes his Masters debut.

Champions League quarter-finals

Tue & Wed, Prime Video, TNT Sports 1 & TNT Sports 2

There's the mouth-watering prospect of an all-English semi-final if Aston Villa dispatch Paris Saint-Germain in their quarter-final second leg at Villa Park on Tuesday (kick-off 8pm, Prime Video). Unai Emery's men could then face Arsenal, who travel to the Bernabeu Stadium (Wednesday, kick-off 8pm, TNT Sports 1) hoping they can repeat the achievement of the Gunners' women's team and knock holders Real Madrid out of the tournament.

Women's FA Cup semi-finals

Saturday & Sunday, BBC1 & BBC2

Under interim boss Amber Whiteley, Liverpool are in the last four of the FA Cup for the first time since 2017. Following victory over Arsenal in the quarter-finals, the Reds return to London to face five-time winners Chelsea (Sat, 12.15pm, BBC1; BBC2 in Wales) after Lauren James' goal saw the Blues defeat Crystal Palace in the last round. On Sunday, holders Manchester United visit rivals Manchester City (3pm, BBC2; not N Ireland). Captain Maya Le Tissier was among the scorers in the quarter-finals as United defeated Sunderland.

F1: Bahrain Grand Prix

Sunday, race starts 4pm, Sky Sports F1

Red Bull's Max Verstappen has taken the chequered flag at the last two Bahrain GPs, but the reigning champion can expect competition from McLaren as he tries to top the podium again at the Sakhir circuit. This year's race has been moved back so as not to clash with Ramadan, and has also returned to its regular Sunday start time after last year's Saturday-night spectacular.

The Japanese Acer 'Taylor' is world famous with its incredible, colour-changing displays across 9 months of the Year!

"It's gorgeous, I love it and I am so pleased I bought it. The colour is so pretty! Great size and very well packaged too. Would not hesitate to recommend."
J. Price - Feefo Review ★★★★★ feefo

- ✔ The perfect specimen for a patio pot
- ✔ Compact, winter hardy & easy to grow
- ✔ Well-established plant in a 3 litre pot

One of the prettiest compact-growing Acers available today, 'Taylor' is perfect for smaller gardens, pots and patios, delivering incredible impact and colour through the year!

In spring, the dainty, dissected leaves emerge salmon pink, covering the bush in a soft peach glow – before maturing to a variegated lime green and cream as summer progresses. Then, in autumn, they turn a uniform lime-green before falling in winter.

Fully at home in Oriental- style gardens, or flower borders, it will remain compact enough for a pot for a decade or more...
a garden plant that no garden should be without!

Bluey: The Sign

Good Friday, 9am, CBeebies & BBC iPlayer

The animated series about blue heeler dog, Bluey, who lives in Brisbane with her sister Bingo, mum Chilli and dad Bandit, is one of the world's biggest TV shows. Each episode usually lasts around seven minutes - but here we're treated with the series' longest-ever episode, clocking in at an epic 28 minutes.

The story centres upon a potential house move and the wedding of Bluey's uncle Radley to his girlfriend, Frisky. It means lots of life changes are afoot, which is making Bluey sad and a bit anxious. But, in the words of Calypso, Bluey's teacher: 'Everything will work out the way it's supposed to.'

We'd keep the tissues handy though... just in case.

FIRST LOOK

The Bombing of Pan Am 103

Connor Swindells and Patrick J. Adams star in a drama about the Lockerbie tragedy

Here's an early look at BBC1's factual drama The Bombing of Pan Am 103, which examines the aftermath of the 1988 terror attack that saw a flight from London to New York explode over Lockerbie in Scotland, leaving 270 people dead.

The six-part series, airing later this year, centres on the Scottish and American investigators who painstakingly attempted to piece together what happened and then bring those responsible to justice. Meanwhile, it also highlights the traumatic impact that the bombing had on Lockerbie itself, and those who lost their relatives.

Connor Swindells stars as DS Ed McCusker, while Peter Mullan is DCS John Orr, Patrick J. Adams is FBI agent Dick Marquise and Merritt Wever is his colleague Kathryn Turman, who worked with the victims' families.

TOP SUPPORT

Tony Curran co-stars as DCI Harry Bell, Kevin McKidd is fellow cop Tom McCulloch, Eddie Marsan is investigator Tom Thurman and Phyllis Logan is Moira Shearer, one of the Scottish locals who helped with recovery efforts. Terence Maynard plays CIA agent Gabe Lepley, while Douglas Hodge, Nicholas Gleaves and Lauren Lyle also appear.

'The Pan Am 103 disaster and the global manhunt it spawned was a defining event in world history – one that contains so many instances of resilience and courage that deserve to be honoured and understood,' says the show's lead writer Jonathan Lee. 'It's a privilege to write this story for the screen.'
